

Knowledge and Networking for Global Compliance Professionals

The Global Workplace Compliance Network (GWCN) is a unique source of information and networking for U.S.-based in-house attorneys and other U.S.-based workplace compliance professionals with responsibility for global employment issues. The GWCN puts members in contact with expertise from around the globe and provides a confidential forum in which they can discuss important topics, such as:

- New legislation and court decisions from around the world
- Regulations regarding international layoffs, relocations, redeployments
- Cross-border compliance
- Managing employment issues across multiple jurisdictions

Through its private Web site and premium webinar series, the GWCN gives members access to valuable resources from anywhere they have Internet or phone access – at the office, at home, or even on the road. That means members can learn and network with each other without the time or expense of travel.

Where Workplace Knowledge and Legal Expertise Meet

The GWCN is a partnership between ORC Worldwide and Fortney & Scott, LLC. ORC Worldwide is a global consulting firm with a long history of assembling leading-edge peer group networks. Senior managers and in-house counsel from more than 200 Fortune 500 companies participate in ORC networks and activities covering topics such as equal employment opportunity, affirmative action and diversity, and labor and employment law. Fortney & Scott, LLC is a Washington, D.C.-based law firm counseling and advising clients on the full spectrum of workplace-related matters, including employment discrimination and labor, compliance programs, executive employment and compensation, and international dispute resolution.
